

Grace Freeman

Artist - Individual - Designer

A personal online portfolio to exhibit my experience as a designer and display past, present and future projects.

Gracefreeman.com is an online space aiming toward prospective employers and clients. Through displaying my work past, present and future, I hope to showcase my experience and capabilities as a creative professional. This space will invite future employers to not only get to know me as an individual, but as a new designer in a competitive job market.
