Contouring 101: Three Simple Steps to a Flawless Face!

Step one: Contour

Apply a cool-toned bronzer three shades darker than your skintone along your cheekbones, along your temples and the sides of your nose. This will create shadow, making your face appear slimmer.

Step Two: Blush

Apply a warm pink shade slightly above the bronzed area. This shade will bring dimension to your cheeks, and create a gradient. Adding color to your face makes you look healthier.

Step Three: Highlight

Add a concealer two-to-three shades lighter than your skintone to all of the areas light would naturally hit your face. This means your forehead, tops of cheekbones, chin and jaw.

What Brush Should I Use?

When it comes to makeup, there are many different brushes out there to choose from. Which one is right for you?

Concealer Brushes are great for blending out shades in hard to reach places, such as under the eye.

This Flat Top Kabuki brush is perfect for blending all over the face, or using with a translucent powder to set your foundation.

Tapered Brushes are mainly used for bronzing under the cheekbones and along the temple. Their shape is designed to fit perfectly in the hollows of your cheek.
